Much of the delicious swordfish steak that we have been enjoying from MacLeans has been brought into our wharf by Mattapoisett swordfishermen. The fish are caught off of Nomansland in a business that is a thrilling sport as well.

The Jeanne Claire, Frank Pimental skipper; the Sultana, Dean Doran skipper and the Pine Island, Norman Dexter skipper have all brought in swordfish in the past few weeks. The boat on the cover has just been outfitted, and we hope to bring her luck with this prediction sketch. She is Dr. Stanley Mysliwy's Anna Kayem which has just been equipped with aluminum pulpit and a new lookout mast.

The latest catch was brought in by Dexter and Brownell.

Good Luck to our fishermen means wonderful steaks for us!

on a pad of cleansing tissues or on an absorbent cloth and force water through the stain with an eye dropper or small syringe. This is to remove the stain without getting much of the surrounding fabric wet. It may be the best way to treat a fresh stain on a wool garment.

But if the fabric is washable -- especially if it's going into the laundry anyway, give it an overnight soak in cool water. Start by working the stain between the hands to soften the fabric and loosen the fruit particles. After soaking, rub on soap or synthetic detergent and wash it. Rinse thoroughly. If a trace of the stain remains, a mild bleach may be needed. Use bleach diluted in water. Avoid chlorine if there's a chance that the fabric has a resin finish, as many "wash-and-wear" cottons have these days.

"The sooner you treat the stain, the easier it will be to remove. Apply water while the stain is still moist, if possible", says Miss Beatrice White, Plymouth County home demonstration agent.

FROM THE LOG OF THE WHALESHIP CHARLESTON BY DANIEL A. BALDWIN ON THE VOYAGE FROM JUNE 28, 1844 to MARCH 9, 1847

March 6th, Friday. Last night at 10 the AJAX took the land breeze and went to sea. At 9 this morning the Ship SARAH PARKER of Nantucket came into the Bay. She is 9 months from home with 80 sperm. The Starboard watch go on shore today. We buy a few yams and sweet potatoes. The natives are not allow'd to sell anything onboard the ship. The traffic must all be done on shore. The inhabitants seem to be a filthy set.

The Cliff near us seems to be full of caves where the inhabitants bury their dead. Our liberty men came off tonight verry thirsty. There is no water or drink to be got onshore except some verry brackish. There is no water within 2 miles. Our ship lies verry nigh the spot where Capt. Cook, the celebrated Navigator, was killed. There is a monument erected to his memory on the cliff above. The natives eat a part of his flesh and burnt the rest. The bones were distributed amongst

WARREN H. HILLER, PROP.

James Cook, R. N. who discovered these Islands in the year of our Lord 1778. The monument is erected by his countrymen.

March 8th, Sunday. Today the Starboard watch go on shore. The sound of the church's gong bell reaches through the hills to call the natives to hear the missionary preach in a very respectable church erected of stone. There is now one missionary here with his wife. His name is Ives, a native of Goshen, Conn. He preached in English at 3 P.M. I did not attend, being ship keeper.

March 9th, Monday. This day we break out 3 barrels of oil and Capt. Chester sells one for wood and two for coffee. We cooper two pipes of sperm oil between decks that began to leak. In the afternoon the Larboard goes on shore. I visit the Church and find it to be 130 feet long by 60 wide. It is substantially built of stone one story high, covered with grass in the yard. I saw the graves of many wayfarers, pilgrims far from their own Land. Their sleep is dreamless and their repose is silent. The volcano may growl with its deepest thunders, it will not disturb them. The foot of the mountain for several miles on the seashore is nothing but a bed of lava, uneven like the waves of the sea, petrified in their wildest commotion. That sea of fire when vomited forth from the bowels of the mountain and pouring down its sides in liquid torrents together with its dreadful agony must have been a sight that mortal eyes seldom see. I saw in the Church Yard only one monumental inscription which read as follows: In Memory of Henry Quigley, a native of New York, U. S. A. late of the ship CHAS.

the Chiefs. They manufactured them into fish hooks.

March 7th, Saturday. This day we get more yams and sweet potatoes. The GEN. SCOTT of New London comes to an anchor in the bay at 10 A.M. from Otahiti. The larboard watch go on shore today. On the crest of a hill that oerhangs the bay repose the ashes of Capt. James Cook, the great circumnavigator. There is a simple monument erected to his memory on which are inscribed: In memory of Capt.

FREDERICK. Died October 6th, 1839. Aged 21 years. This stone is placed here at the expense of the Officers and crew of the Ship as a testimony of respect for the deceased.

March 10th, Tuesday. This day we make preparations for going to sea this night with the land breeze. The Starboard watch go on shore. I visited the spot where Capt. Cook was killed on the stump of a cocoanut tree that stands for his monument. I took the following inscription: Near this place fell Capt. Cook R.N., the renowned circumnavigator who discovered these Islands A.D. 1778. By His Majestys Ship IMOGENE Oct. 17th, 1837. On another sheet of copper I read: This sheet and capping was put on by the SPARROW HAWK Sept. 16th, 1839 to preserve this monument to the memory of cook.
There was another inscription put on in 1843 that I could not read. Toward night I go after goats and get 7 for a piece of blue cloth. There was 3000 in the flock. I took my choice. At sunset all hands come onboard and the ship is ready for sea. We get under way at half past 8 in company with the GEN'L SCOTT. There is a faint breath of air off the land. We make but little progress.

March 11th, Wednesday. Today we coast along Owyhee with a. light air from sea. The SCOTT is ahead and a little schooner loaded with native passengers bound from Owyhee to Mowee. Near us Owyhee rises 18000 feet above the sea in gloomy grandeur. The wind is light all day and we make but little progress. The Island seems to be more fertile as we near the North point. The wind comes in light airs till we reach the north point at 11 P.M. We suddenly take the trade winds fresh as it sweeps down the channel and we soon leave the Island of Owyhee behind us.

VACATIONED IN VIRGINIA

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Jason of Barstow Street, Mattapoisett vacationed in Richmond, Virginia, visiting Mrs. Jason's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. William Conquest.

March 12th, Thursday. Long before daylight the mountains of Maui peer forth through the gloom of midnight. At daylight we are 5 or 6 miles from land. We go round the small Isle of Tahoorowa and haul up for Laihiria. Tahoorowa is barren and desolate. Tis where they send criminals into banishment from the other islands. It seems as dreary and desolate as a human heart shorn of the bright flowers of hope. We have light airs all day. At 2 P.M. 5 miles distant Capt. Chester goes in shore at Laihiria. There seems to be 18 or 20 ships at anchor in the roads. Soon after dark a breeze springs up and we get near the anchorage. Two boats come from the dromo and Indian Chief and stopped a few minutes till Capt. Chester came off shore. We put to sea. The Capt bought some oars and some other small articles. We ran down between Kanai and Moratoi with fresh trades.

March 13th, Friday. At daylight Mowai is astern, Kanai is on our larboard quarter, Moratoi on our starboard beam and the desolate mountains of Woahoo just begin to peer above the horizon. All the Sandwich Islands that I have seen thus far have a not verry fertile appearance. There is verry little timber to be seen with its deep green foliage. We arrive off Honolulu at 4 P.M. Capt. Chester goes ashore and the ship lies off and on. The town and scenery around is beautiful indeed. There seems to be many good buildings in the European style around which cluster in an irregular manner the huts of the natives. I saw 3 or 4 verry handsome churches. There was in port Ships MONTEZUMA with 1900 and HIBERNIA 2500 both of New London besides several other vessels of various kinds. A Sloop of War was there from South America. Capt. Chester came off at half past 8 and we keep off for Atooi.

March 14th. Saturday begins with fresh trades from N. At 7 A.M. the wind increases in squalls. We take in top gallant sails and flying jib. There is 2 ships in sight. At dark the wind increases and the ship has as much as she can stagger under with 2 reefs in her topsails through the night. At 10 we see the Island of Atooi. We lie off and on till morning.

March 15th, Sunday. At daylight there is a Bark to windward and a ship to leeward. The ship sets her private signal. It is white with W and K in it. She proves to be the GEN. SCOTT. She pursues her course from the Island. Mr. Lyons went ashore at a village but no trade Sunday. This appears to be the finest Island in the group. The coast for 2 or 3 miles back is fine level land cultivated in places and studded with primitive cottages of the natives. In the back ground it rises irregularly and pierced with beautiful romantic vallies that is verry fertiles. The scenery is romantic and beautiful indeed. Capt. Chester concluded to ly off and on tonight and go on shore tomorrow to trade. There seems to be no safe anchorage for ships this side of the Island. There is several boat harbors. At one there is a white flag a flying and there seems to be wood and a store house of recruits for ships.

March 16th. Monday finds us lying off and on a place called Koloa Island off Atooi S. Islands. There is a current setting East on the South side and by daylight we were 12 miles from the landing. At 8 A.M. the waist boat and bow boat start for the shore with some cloth, 4 muskets and a barrel of oil to trade. There is a fine boat harbor on the margin. The natives assemble with articles for sale. There is hogs, sweet potatoes, yams, oranges, fowls and most all kinds of produce a ship needs. Wood here is 6 dollars per cord. Potatoes first rate, 6 yds. of white cotton cloth per barrel, yams one quarter more. Hogs are high. Beef 4 dollars per cwt. Blue drilling is the best article for trade at these islands. We got 14 barrels of potatoes, 6 fowls, 100 oranges, a few small onions paid in cloth and some oil. The trading masters fees was $5.50. There is no other Port Charges here whether ships anchor or not. The roads here is not safe for ships it being subject to strong southern gales. There is 2 sugar plantations and some coffee plantations on the island. I visited one 2 miles from the landing where they average 2000 lbs of sugar per day from the first of December till May. The overseer told me the sugar cane is well adapted to the climate. It is carried on by American overseers and native laborers that they hire at 25 cents per day and board themselves. Here likewise is a mission station of American Missionaries. We went off and took 2 natives that ran away and swam to us through the breakers. We got onboard the ship at sunset. The current had swept her a long way off. The bow boat had taken three off before, 2 being as many as we wanted. We set 3 ashore and at 8 in the evening we hauled our wind and stood to the Eastward from the Island. The Bark GEORGE CHAMPLIN of Newport was lying off and on recruiting. The Capt. staid ashore nights. She was 20 mos out with 500 bbls.

March 17th. Tuesday we tack ship and weather the Island. At noon it is 30 miles to leeward. We unbend the cables, stow them away and lash the anchors. There being no woolen clothes in the slop chest Capt. Chester gets some of the crew for the two Kanackers. The captain of an American Whale Ship married a lady of the mission family at Koloa not long ago. I saw a Doctor Smith there. We all got bad colds around these islands.

March 18th. Wednesday the wind is strong from N.N.E., the ship with topgallant sails furled. The last vestage of Mother Earth has faded away and we must seek a more inhospitable clime. We begin to repair old sails today.

March 19th. Thursday the wind is more moderate from East by N. We shake out reefs, set the topgallant sails, topmast and lower studding sails and steer N.W. by N. We continue to repair sails.

March 21st, Saturday. The wind is strong from N.E. The air is damp and misty. This morning the topmast studdingsail haliards parted, the yard came down through the jib and tore it. We unbend it, repair it and set again, unbend the mizzen topsail, repair it and bend it again. We repair the main spencer and the carpenter repairs the bow boat. The steward kills a turkey for Sunday. Thus ends the day.

THE EGO OF MAN

One fine, sunny day King Solomon was strolling in his palace gardens when he heard a butterfly say to its mate, "With one stroke of my wing I could knock down the King's palace". Whereupon King Solomon said to himself, "This is terrible!" Then he hurriedly summoned his counselors and chief officers of state, and commanded them to bring the butterfly into his court.

Quickly they went forth and brought the terrified butterfly, pale and trembling, before the King, who charged him with treason.

The butterfly pleaded guilty, but begged, "Oh, great King, you are a much-married man. Cannot you understand why I said it? My wife was unusually insubordinate this morning, and it was necessary, in order to maintain some sort of discipline, to boast to her of my great power. That was why I said that dreadful thing, your ineffable majesty!"

King Solomon understood, and dismissed the butterfly without so much as a reproof. But when the butterfly returned to his home, his wife asked, "Well, dear, what did the King say?" The butterfly wiggled his wings jauntily, and replied, "He begged me not to do it!"

Personnel Director: "Have you any reference?"

Applicant: "Sure, here's the letter: 'To whom it may concern. John Jones worked for us one week and we're satisfied.'"
